Life sentence for cabbie killer

Justice. Chaze Lamar Thompson found guilty of first-degree murder in death of Sergei Kostin

Before handing down his sentence to Chaze Lamar Thompson for killing Dartmouth taxi driver Sergei Kostin, Justice Glen McDougall asked the 22-year-old a question that may never be answered.

"Why? Why?" he asked about Thompson's reasons for taking out a gun in the backseat of Kostin's cab and firing a round into the unarmed man's head.

"Was it to avoid paying the $25 cab fare?" asked McDougall. "Was it perhaps to rob the cabbie of a few dollars he might have had in his pocket? Was it to impress your cousin ... or was it simply for the thrill of taking another person's life?"

McDougall handed Thompson an automatic life sentence in prison with no chance of parole for 25 years after a jury of seven men and five women on Thursday found the North Preston father of one guilty of first-degree murder.

The verdict brought loud sobbing from Thompson's mother, who could be heard later crying just outside the courtroom and yelling, "No, no, no, give me my baby."

Thompson was arrested after Kostin's body was found in a shallow grave in North Preston in April 2009.

Kostin had disappeared after picking up a fare in Dartmouth in January.

The Crown's case during the six-week trial was bolstered by testimony from Thompson's cousin, Wayne McAvoy, who received immunity from prosecution in exchange for his co-operation.

McAvoy testified Thompson shot Kostin in the back of the head when they arrived at their destination in Cherry Brook.

"Taxi drivers will be able to breathe a little easier knowing that (you) won't be sitting in the backseat of their cab. They won't have to worry about you putting a bullet in their head, or anyone else's head for that matter," McDougall said to Thompson.

McDougall also spoke of the victim, and the effects his murder has had on his family back in the Ukraine. He referred to Kostin as a role model, who came to Canada to try and make a better life for his family.

"His reward for being that kind of person was a bullet fired from a gun by someone who obviously lacks any type of compassion, respect for human life." PHILIP CROUCHER/METRO

Thompson: I'm not guilty

Chaze Lamar Thompson is maintaining his innocence.

Sporting an all-black outfit, including a black baseball cap, Thompson stood quietly as the jury found him guilty of first-degree murder in the death of Sergei Kostin.

Justice Glen McDougall later asked Thompson if he had anything to say prior to being sentenced.

"I would just like to say despite the fact that I was wrongfully accused, wrongfully convicted, I just want my mother to know that she is a true soldier," Thompson said, turning to look at her as she sobbed.

"You don't have to cry, just smile, because I'm going to smile. Your son's not in a casket. You get to talk to me every night. You'll get to hug me again."

Thompson didn't testify in his own defence at trial. METRO

Victim's friend says killer 'has no soul, no compassion'

Guilty verdict.

Marlene Holden attended much of the six-week trial at Nova Scotia Supreme Court

PHILIP CROUCHER

As she spoke about the guilty verdict handed down Thursday in the murder of her close friend Sergei Kostin, Marlene Holden brought up the Dartmouth taxi driver's daughter, Kostina.

"She's a little girl, she's over in Ukraine, she has no daddy, and bad thoughts of Canada.... Canada has let (Kostin) down," Holden told reporters as she fought back tears.

"You're supposed to come for a better life in Canada. You're not supposed to come, work as hard as you can and then get killed by some punk."

A victim-impact statement from 11-year-old Kostina was read inside the courtroom Thursday prior to the sentencing of 22-year-old Chaze Lamar Thompson.

The sentence came shortly after Thompson was found guilty of first-degree murder for shooting the 40-year-old Ukrainian immigrant in the back of the head.

Crown attorney Rick Hartlen read the statement, and choked up at several points.

"He was for me not only a hard working daddy, but also a friend," the letter reads.

"I still cannot believe that I will never have (my) father. I miss him and will always remember him."

Holden listened attentively as Thompson declared his innocence prior to being sentenced.

"He has no soul. No compassion," Holden said of Thompson. "He's in total de-

Hartlen, who said he was

Skull found in Sackville identified as missing Halifax woman

Police in Halifax are hoping the family and friends of a woman missing since 1997 will find some closure now that her remains have been identified.

Forensic tests have confirmed the skull bone found in Middle Sackville in June 2011 is that of Crystal Dawn Jack, who disappeared in July 1997.

Now investigators want to provide Dawn's relatives with answers about what led to her death, and are asking the public to come forward with any information they may have.

"Even though we realize

it doesn't fully answer all the questions, we are compassionate towards the family that it gives them a little start on an answer," said RCMP spokesman Cpl. Scott MacRae. "Of course, the bigger picture is to answer the questions as to what has happened to their loved one."

On June 9, 2011, a skull bone was found by surveyors in the woods near the 3300 block of Sackville Drive. Police announced Thursday they believe the remains are those of Jack.

The Nova Scotia Medical Examiner's Office, the RCMP forensic crime lab and a forensic odontologist made the identification.

"We only had a partial remain, which was part of a skull," MacRae said. "It had to go through heavy forensic analysis to determine an identity."

Jack was last seen at her home at 2448 Agricola St. on July 15, 1997. She was reported missing to police eight days later. She was 30 years old at the time of her disappearance.

Police believe Jack was murdered and say they are working to try and find out what happened to her.

When the missing person case began, police said others living in the city's north-end were possibly threatening her. They also say she had links to prostitution and the drug trade.

"There were suspicious circumstances surrounding her disappearance back in 1997," MacRae said.

HRM. Public should have say in deciding methadone clinic locations: Minister

The province's minister of Health and Wellness said more public consultation is needed before methadone clinics are set up in communities.

David Wilson's comments came on the heels of a public outcry against a proposed methadone clinic planned for a home on Dutch Village Road in Fairview. On Thursday, businesses were clamoring to raise $100,000 by day's end to fund a mobile service, which would scrap the Fairview proposal.

Wilson called those efforts unfortunate, since he said more clinics are needed in the province. But he added his government will work to ensure more public consultation is involved in the process.

"It's unfortunate that it's transpiring in this manner because methadone clinics are important; they are needed in the province," said Wilson. "There has to be better community engagement. I'm going to move in the next weeks and months to ensure those opportunities are there."

Fairview councillor Russell Walker argued the same point on Oct. 2. Council supported his motion for city staff to reexamine zoning procedures for methadone clinics in an effort to include public consultation.

Assistance. Province announces funding package a month after floodwaters hit in Truro

The Nova Scotia government has announced an assistance program for victims of flooding in Truro last month worth about $2.6 million.

The government says it has also increased the cap on claims to $80,000 from $50,000 for homeowners and small businesses.

The cap for non-profit organizations will rise to $200,000 from $50,000.

The government says the changes will remain in effect for future disaster-assistance claims.

Fed funds

The province says it will apply to the federal government to cover a portion of the aid package.

Truro deputy mayor Ron Cavanaugh says the assistance program will be a "great help" to those whose properties were flooded Sept. 10 when more than 100 millimetres of rain fell.

Gas regs here to stay under NDP

Fuel wars. Liberal and Conservative parties say changes to program long overdue

ANDREW RANKIN

andrew.rankin@metronews.ca

Gas regulation isn't going anywhere under the NDP government.

Despite pressure this week from Progressive Conservative Leader Jamie Baillie to review gas regulation in an effort to lower prices, Minister of Service Nova Scotia John MacDonnell said the program is here to stay.

"It's not something we should consider," MacDonnell

Liberals

"Regulating gasoline has kept prices artificially high and has taken more than $40 million out of the pockets of Nova Scotians." Liberal Leader Stephen McNeil told reporters following Thursday's cabinet meeting. "It was never put in place with the idea that it was going to bring in the lowest prices."

Currently the province's Utilities and Review Board uses a complex formula to determine weekly gas prices. MacDonnell said he would support making that formula public so people could study the figures for themselves when prices fluctuate. But he said local media has a solid understanding of the formula and can accurately predict prices.

"I've got to say the media quite often predicts the price and hits it right."

Media predictions for Friday's price ranged from the price rising a penny to falling 4.5 cents. Last week, the spread ranged from a two-cent to seven-cent hike.

Liberal Leader Stephen McNeil has consistently opposed gas regulation, arguing the program has done nothing but inflate and destabilize prices.

Baillie believes every option should be considered to lower gas prices for Nova Scotians.

Premier Darrell Dexter accused Baillie of trying to turn pricing over to big oil companies that will assuredly raise prices.

The Tories brought regulation six years ago.

"If anybody believes that big oil really looks out for the consumer, we haven't seen evidence of that," said Dexter.

Ed Kallio, gas director with Calgary-based Ziff Energy, called Nova Scotia's regulation program perplexing and says it's proof that government shouldn't be involved in manipulating the market.

Animal advocacy.

Group calls for ban on permanent tethering, kennelling

RUTH DAVENPORT
ruth.davenport@metronews.ca

An animal-advocacy group is asking the province to ban the practice of permanently keeping dogs outside on a tether or in a pen.

People for Dogs says the practice of keeping a dog restrained, outdoors, essentially 24-7, results in serious psychological damage to a dog.

"There's all kinds of excuses out there, but when it comes right down to it, it's cruel," said spokesman Scott Saunders.

Current legislation to "aid animals in distress" doesn't include a definition of distress, an oversight that advocates say allows owners to get away with the practice.

Dog trainer and behavioural expert Silvia Jay says owners are within the law so long as the restrained dog has food, water and shelter — which isn't enough to guarantee the animal's well-being.

"It stresses the dog physically, mentally and emotionally, and the result is often a variety of behavioural problems, including aggression," said Jay.

Liberal MLA Leo Glavinie says he's heard from dozens of "outraged" Nova Scotians about the issue. He plans to ask the Minister of Agriculture, John MacDonnell, to clarify the law surrounding penned or tethered dogs when the legislature resumes sitting this fall.

"Getting this very clearly defined should not be a long or laborious request of government," he said.

Saunders says with or without legislation, the discussion should be enough to change some owners' behaviour.

"It will send a clear message to people who are tying their dogs up 24 hours a day that it's not socially acceptable," he said. "I really think some people may be embarrassed that they're using this practice."

Protest takes aim at Acadian, VIA Rail cuts

VIA Rail workers and CAW members stage a picket to protest cuts. JEFF HARPER/METRO

Mark Curtis felt the desperation caused in his hometown of Broken Hill, Australia when the train that served it and everyone in between the nearest city of Adelaide 500 kilometres away, suddenly closed.

So while he and his vacationing family were waiting to catch the train in Halifax Thursday, they decided to join a protest at Victoria Park against the imminent closure of Acadian bus lines and the coming cuts to VIA Rail.

"We've seen the effect of that in our community and how desperate it was," said Curtis. "Seniors have to pay a $300 plane ticket to see a doctor. It's been terrible on them. That's why we're here."

The 50 or so demonstrators, who included Acadian Bus Line drivers, VIA Rail employees, and riders, weren't only there to oppose the coming cuts, they were calling on government for a transportation strategy that could service Nova Scotians and the rest of Canada.

Acadian Bus Lines is scheduled to fold Nov. 30, while VIA Rail's Montreal-to-Halifax service will be cut from six runs per week to three runs per week by the end of this month.

Chad Johnston, the Canadian Auto Workers' national representative, said that not only should the services be brought back but they also must be bolstered.

"The province needs to get an integrated model, which involves rail and bus and ferries working together along with the other provinces," said Johnston. "The government needs to take an active role. We'll continue to apply pressure. This is a start."

Halifax MP Megan Leslie was on hand and said she shares that philosophy and will pressure the federal government to bolster public transportation across the country.

"Last week at the House of Commons the majority of MPs, i.e. the Conservatives, voted against a bill for a national transit strategy," said Leslie. ANDREW RANKIN/METRO

From Halifax? Public asked to help identify woman in Toronto shelter

Toronto police are asking Halifax residents to help identify a woman who appears to be suffering from amnesia.

The woman walked into a shelter in downtown Toronto on Sept. 5.

She goes by the name "Linda," but was unable to provide any other information or remember anything else about herself.

However, she has made references to Halifax, and it's hoped that someone in HRM can provide a clue to her identity.

The woman is five-feet-seven-inches tall and about 150 lbs.

She is currently wearing a dark blue jean jacket, black Capri style pants, black slip-on walking shoes, a pink bandana, light brown glasses and a pink watch.

Art at Night hits five-year mark

Sculpture, dance, music. Annual Nocturne event is a chance for artists 'to play'

RUTH DAVENPORT
ruth.davenport@metronews.ca

Halifax is poised for its annual transformation into a nighttime wonderland of sculpture, dance and music.

The fifth Nocturne event will begin Saturday at 6 p.m., boasting a glittering lineup of more than 80 forms of visual arts.

Executive director Rose Zack says with a wide range of performances and exhibits, there's certain to be something for everyone — even though more than 20,000 people are expected to turn out.

"I don't expect everyone to see everything, I've tried," she said. "But that's the point, everybody comes away with something different, and the conversation the next day is, 'What did you see?'"

The exhibits take place in five different "zones," including Alderney Landing in Dartmouth, on the harbour ferries, along the Halifax waterfront, through the downtown core to the Public Gardens and up to the north end.

"The waterfront has some fantastic projects this year, where artists have really responded to the landscape, the water, the boardwalk and the history," said Zack. "There's a real nautical bent to what's happening down there."

Festivalgoers can navigate the installations on two chartered Metro Transit buses, or by joining one of several organized tours. Although the event seems designed to bring the public into the artistic community, one participating artist says it also helps artists reach out.

"Something like this gives us a chance to play, to play with the public, to speak to our audience and to find new audiences," said Ardath Whynacht, a poet with Phin Performing Arts. "So it's turning inside out."

Phin will present a gothic tableau in the Grand Parade based on Poe's "The Masque of the Red Death" and the fate of the immigrants on the S.S. England who died and were buried on McNabs Island.

Prison baby. Outcry follows jail-cell birth

The Elizabeth Fry Society is calling for a public inquiry into health-care services provided to inmates after a woman gave birth in an Ottawa jail cell without the help of a doctor.

The group's director, Bryonie Baxter, says a systemic review of the prison system is needed to begin changing a culture that sees inmates treated as less than human.

Sandusky's wife claimed their son was off his meds

Former Penn State University assistant football coach Jerry Sandusky is driven from the Centre County Courthouse after being sentenced in Bellefonte, Pa., Tuesday. Sandusky was ordered to serve at least 30 years in prison, effectively a life sentence, in the child-sexual-abuse scandal that brought shame to Penn State and led to coach Joe Paterno's downfall. Convicted pedophile.

Former football coach's son was expected to testify for the defence until he told investigators he was molested by his father

Jerry and Dottie Sandusky wrote defiant letters to his judge before sentencing, attacking the motives of his victims, expressing a loss of faith in the judicial system and insisting he isn't a child molester.

Son's lawyer

"Matt is extremely disappointed that they have decided to attack him in what amounts to an effort to divert attention away from Jerry's heinous crimes."

Matt Sandusky's civil lawyer Joel Feller, who also represents at least five other victims or potential claimants

The letters were released Thursday by Judge John Cleland, two days after he sentenced the former Penn State assistant coach to at least 30 years in prison for 45 counts of child sexual abuse.

Dottie Sandusky wrote July 9 that she never saw her husband do anything inappropriate to any child, a statement that echoed her trial testimony.

She was deeply critical of her son, Matt, who had been expected to be a defence witness until the trial, when he claimed to investigators he also had been abused by Jerry Sandusky.

Matt Sandusky has been diagnosed with bipolar disorder, "but he refuses to take his medication," she wrote. "He has had many run-ins with the law and stolen money and items from our family."

Matt Sandusky's civil lawyer Joel Feller, who also represents at least five other victims, said the letters were part of a failed strategy to blame others for Jerry Sandusky's crimes.

How that could happen so easily at a highly protected facility has prompted a review of security measures that were in place at the time, Toews said.

Vic Toews said the government is also aware that the head of the U.S. Intelligence Committee is urging Canadian companies not to do business with the Chinese telecommunications giant Huawei as a matter of national security.

A U.S. report earlier this week urged companies to avoid doing business with Huawei and ZTE and said regulators should prevent them from buying U.S. companies. It also said government computer systems should not include components from them because they might pose an espionage risk.

Judges speak out on Pussy Riot decision

The Russian judges who ruled to keep two of the three Pussy Riot band members behind bars took the unusual step of publicly defending their decision, saying Thursday that it was made independently and without pressure.

A panel of three judges at the Moscow City Court on Wednesday upheld a lower-court ruling to send Nadezhda Tolokonnikova and Maria Alekhina to prison for two years, but they released Yekaterina Samutsevich after giving her a suspended sentence.

Pussy Riot staged an impromptu performance at Moscow's main cathedral in February in protest against President Vladimir Putin and the Russian Orthodox Church hierarchy for openly supporting his rule. The three women were convicted of hooliganism motivated by religious hatred, but they insist that their protest was political in nature and not an attack on religion.

The case has caused controversy in Russia and been widely condemned in the West, which may have prompted the judges to

The presiding judge said the appeals court deemed it necessary for Tolokonnikova and Alekhina to remain incarcerated.

"The court has considered all the circumstances of the case and the level of danger to society and ruled that their correction is possible only in isolation from society," judge Larisa Polyakova said.

Panda mom not responsible for her cub's death

Return to normal.

After four weeks of grieving, Mei Xiang has left her den and is spending time outside

U.S. National Zoo scientists have determined a six-day-old giant panda cub's death last month wasn't momma bear's fault, and life was returning to normal Thursday for giant panda Mei Xiang.

The panda mom has stopped cradling a toy and left her den to spend more time in her yard. On Thursday morning, she strolled outside, found a fruity frozen ice bar and turned her back to a gathering crowd to enjoy breakfast.

said chief veterinarian Suzan Murray. After a full necropsy, scientists found the tiny female cub's lungs hadn't fully developed and likely weren't sending enough oxygen to the liver. The cub was possibly born prematurely.

Zoo scientists are trying to learn more about how common liver and lung defects are in newborn pandas.

Zookeepers have said Mei Xiang took careful care of the cub. It weighed only about four ounces when it died. The tiny hairless, helpless creatures can be easily crushed, but the cub had no sign of injury. A small amount of milk in the digestive system suggested she had nursed. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

T-shirt gets U.K. man jail time

A British man who wore a T-shirt that glorified killing police hours after the deaths of two officers was sentenced Thursday to four months in jail, prompting condemnation from British free-speech campaigners.

Barry Thew, 39, was arrested for wearing a shirt bearing handwritten messages saying "One less pig perfect justice" and "killacop-forfun.com" in Radcliffe, near Manchester, on Sept. 18.

His arrest came hours after two police officers in the region of Manchester, northern England, were killed in a gun-and-grenade attack that shocked the nation.

Thew was sentenced to four months in jail Thursday after earlier pleading guilty to a public order offence.

He received another four months for breaching the terms of an earlier suspended sentence.

Qur'an-burning pastor denied entry into Canada

Turned back at the border. Anti-Muslim American was slated to debate at a free-speech rally

An anti-Muslim American pastor who earned an international reputation after burning copies of the Islamic holy text has been denied entry into Canada hours before he was to speak at a free-speech rally in Toronto, organizers said Thursday.

Allan Einstoss said Terry Jones was turned back at the Michigan-Ontario border after being held there for several hours.

Einstoss decried the decision to keep Jones from attending a multi-faith debate on freedom of speech, which was slated to take place in front of the Ontario legislature on Thursday evening.

He poured scorn on the official reason for the denial, saying it defied logic.

criminal records, I would make the assumption that's what they do on a daily basis," Einstoss said in a telephone interview.

Jones issued a statement Thursday night expressing "shock" at being refused entry. "We consider this to be a grievous blow to freedom of speech. We hope that this is a lesson for the Canadians and the Americans for us to stand up, unite together, and protect our freedom of speech," the statement said.

According to Jones's statement, the rental car he was travelling in was thoroughly searched and protest placards were confiscated.

The statement said Jones and a travelling companion were refused entry based on an arrest in Michigan last year for refusing to pay a peace bond as well as a fine by the German government for using the title "doctor" based on an honorary doctorate he received from a California university in 1993. Jones said he appealed both disputes and won but the statement indicated that border officials told him they needed more documentation in order to allow him to enter.

The Canada Border Services Agency declined to discuss Jones's case, saying it was against their policy to share details of any individual efforts to enter the country.

"Admissibility of all travellers seeking to enter Canada is considered on a case-by-case basis based on the specific facts presented by the applicant at the time of entry," the agency said in a statement.

Event to go on without Jones

Terry Jones was scheduled to be the primary attraction at a multi-faith debate on the film Innocence of Muslims, whose negative portrayal of the Islamic prophet Muhammad has incited violent riots around the world. One skirmish claimed the life of the U.S. ambassador to Libya, along with three members of his staff.

Jones was slated to square off against Toronto imam Steve Rockwell, U.S.-based Muslim author Masud Ansari and Sikh community leader Bikram Lamba. The event was also to feature a memorial to Cpl. Christopher Speer, a U.S. medic killed in Afghanistan by Canadian war criminal Omar Khadr.

Einstoss said the event will go ahead as planned, but lamented Jones' absence from the proceedings. Interference from border officials, he said, has quashed an opportunity for a meaningful dialogue on free speech.

Bieber fans deface memorial

Some Justin Bieber fans defaced the memorial wall at Vancouver's Rogers Arena Wednesday night where Canucks fans have been paying tribute to Rick Rypien since his suicide just over a year ago.

One Rypien fan was up early the next morning to try to scrub the messages off with nail polish, but the messages to "J.B." were stubborn and by mid-morning the bottle was abandoned there, nearly full.

Fans of the late hockey forward, who suffered from clinical depression, took to Twitter to denounce the acts of vandalism.

"Oh man I don't like to call people stupid but how do you write about a Justin Bieber concert on Rick Rypien's memorial? Insanity," wrote Wyatt Arndt.

One Bieber fan apparently signed her name on the wall, and after a photo of the signature circulated online someone sent the girl a tweet telling her to jump off a bridge.

Another Twitter user, Alexandra Ransford, was hit by a backlash for calling the Bieber fan who signed the wall a b—h.

"So after being depressed for 5 years I'm being bullied for being upset about a suicide victims memorial being written on. How pleasant :)" Ransford wrote.

Alexandra, 18, was too upset Thursday to do an interview, but her mother, Ellen Ransford, said she had been crying all morning about the defacement and being accused of "fuelling the fire" by Twitter users who assumed the vandals to be underage.

No sex change required to alter gender on birth certificates in Ontario

Ontario has become the first jurisdiction in Canada to allow transgender people to change the gender on their birth certificates without sex-change surgery.

"It's a huge decision. It's a remarkably positive decision. This is an important victory," Susan Gapka, chair of the Trans Lobby Group, told the Torstar News Service on Thursday.

The new rules, published this week, mean a transgender person can apply to ServiceOntario for a new birth certificate with only a letter from a physician or psychologist.

Previously, the Vital Statistics Act required proof of "transsexual surgery."

Ontario was acting on a ruling in April from the Ontario Human Rights Commission.

Conservatives overspent on ads by more than 37%

A spokesman for federal Public Works Minister Rona Ambrose says the Harper government is being transparent with its advertising expenses because cabinet approvals of advertising budgets are posted quarterly.

But an examination of the Conservative government's first five years shows it overspent those cabinet-approved ad budgets by $128 million — more than 37 per cent.

The Conservatives are coming under fire for their current, gauzy "economic action plan" media blitz — part of a $16-million campaign that is saturating Canadian airwaves this autumn.

Treasury Board documents show that even in a time of across-the-board budget cuts, the Conservative cabinet has approved more than $64 million in ad spending this year.

That's up from just under $53 million approved for the 2011-12 fiscal year, although the actual dollars spent won't be available until a future date. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Children caught in Syrian fighting

Plane was carrying ammunition to Syria: Turkey's PM

Tough stand. Engineer on board Syrian plane said armed Turkish officials handcuffed the crew before inspecting packages

A plane intercepted by Turkish fighter jets on its way from Moscow to Damascus was carrying equipment and ammunition destined for the Syrian Defence Ministry, Turkey's prime minister said Thursday.

Recep Tayyip Erdogan's comments follow a fierce denial by Syria that anything illegal had been aboard the Airbus A320 that was forced by Turkey to land in Ankara late Wednesday. Syria, whose relations with neighbouring Turkey have plummeted over the Syrian war, branded it an act of piracy.

Earlier in the day, Turkish officials had rejected claims by Syria's ally, Russia, that Turkey had endangered the lives of Russian citizens on board the aircraft.

Yeni Safak, a newspaper close to the Turkish government, reported Thursday there were 10 containers aboard the plane, whose contents included radio receivers, antennas and equipment "thought to be missile parts."

Turkish state-run television TRT also reported the plane was carrying military communications equipment.

Neither TRT nor the newspaper cited sources for their claims. The plane was allowed to continue to Damascus after several hours, without the cargo.

Erdogan refused to say how — or from whom — Turkey had learned that the twice-weekly scheduled flight would be used to transport military gear to Syria.

Turkey has called for Syrian President Bashar Assad to step down and Damascus accusing Turkey of supporting the rebels.

The two neighbours have traded artillery fire over Syria's northern border throughout the past week.

Hours before the Turkish statement, Russian Ambassador Vladimir Ivanovsky had held talks with Turkish officials at the Foreign Ministry.

Russian Foreign Ministry spokesman Alexander Lukashevich had said earlier Thursday that Moscow was concerned that lives and safety of the 35 passengers, including 17 Russian citizens, had been endangered.

He said Turkey without explanation denied Russian consular officials and a doctor access to the passengers, who had not been allowed into the airport for eight hours or provided with food.

Terror cell. Islamists planned to send jihadists to Syria, prosecutor says

A network of French Islamists behind a grenade attack on a kosher market also planned to join jihadists fighting in Syria, a state prosecutor said Thursday, calling the suspected terrorist group potentially the most dangerous established in France since the 1990s.

Five of the 12 people arrested in sweeps in cities around France have been freed, said the prosecutor, Francois Molins. He said seven people remain in custody a day after police discovered bomb-making materials in an underground parking lot as part of a probe of an "extremely dangerous terrorist cell." The seven, aged 19 to 25 years old, were all born in France, he said.

The Sept. 19 attack on the market in Sarcelles, outside Paris, shattered windows and injured a customer at the store. It has revived French concerns that home-grown Islamic militants want to link with international jihad and carry out terrorism in France — this time, notably, against Jewish targets.

"The intent was to kill," Molins said.

The case involves two components: The kosher grocery attack, and the recruitment network.

- Two suspects "had the mission of recruiting and sending individuals to carry out jihad in some countries — notably Syria," prosecutor Francois Molins said. Two members

- Police investigators turned up five wills that had "recommendations such as 'the day that I won't be here ... give my iPod to my sister and such-and-such item to my brother-in-law,'" Molins said.

Weapons to Syria

Not through Iraqi territory, PM says

Iraq's prime minister says his country is doing all it can to prevent anyone from supplying weapons to Syria through Iraqi territory.

Iraq last month kept a North Korean plane from entering its airspace on suspicion it had weapons for Syria. But U.S. officials have previously accused Baghdad of letting Iran — another ally of Syria — fly weapons to Syrian forces through Iraqi airspace.

Protests expected at launch of Ireland's first abortion clinic

Northern Ireland.

The issue unites social conservatives across the region's usual divide between British Protestant and Irish Catholic

A family-planning charity plans to open the first abortion clinic in Ireland, challenging decades of legal confusion over the extremely limited access to pregnancy terminations in both parts of the island.

Officials at the Marie Stopes facility due to open next week in Belfast, capital of the British territory of Northern Ireland, said Thursday they plan to offer non-surgical abortions to women whose pregnancies are less than nine weeks in gestation.

Alternative

The traditional route for more than 4,000 abortion-seekers annually in Ireland has been a flight to Britain, where abortion has been legal since 1967 and is available to anyone up to 24 weeks pregnant.

They expect protests and have declined to reveal the clinic's street address.

Women will receive medication that causes a miscarriage only if doctors determine that continued pregnancy would jeopardize their physical or mental health.

Abortions under such circumstances are supposed to be legal already in both parts of Ireland. But lawmakers have failed for decades to clarify the situation, leaving hospitals and doctors fearful of suffering pickets or lawsuits if they're publicly identified as an abortion provider.

In Belfast, Northern Ireland lawmakers have repeatedly bungled the publication of legal guidelines to doctors, while in Dublin, successive Republic of Ireland governments have refused to pass legislation in line with a landmark 1992 Supreme Court judgment. It ordered abortions to be legalized to save a woman's life — including her own threat to commit suicide if denied one.

"The law in Northern Ireland has been very unclear for many women and health-care professionals. Our clinic will provide a safe, caring, sensitive environment for integrated family planning in Northern Ireland for the first time," said Dawn Purvis, director of the new clinic.

Africa. Harper commits $20M in aid

Prime Minister Stephen Harper has committed $20 million in Canadian aid money to help famine-stricken residents in Africa's Sahel belt.

Harper's announcement came as he visited a United Nations centre in the Senegalese capital of Dakar on Thursday.

The $20 million covers a period of three years and is aimed at improving food distribution and farmland rehabilitation.

"Across the Sahel region of Africa there are many problems, including millions of men, women and children who are suffering because they do not have enough to eat," Harper said on the first full day of his trip to Africa.

"I know I speak for all Canadians when I tell you we will not abandon you. The challenges we're talking about today go well beyond the food shortage, but obviously for many people this is the most critical challenge."

Harper was in Senegal before heading to the Democratic Republic of the Congo on Friday for the summit of la Francophonie on the weekend.

Earlier on Thursday, the prime minister visited a vocational training centre and announced Canada will contribute $5 million from 2012 to 2017 to improve employment opportunities for young people in Senegal.

Harper was expected to take part in a roundtable with business officials later on Thursday before meeting Senegalese President Macky Sall. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rabbis, officials clash on circumcision

Or Chaim Nagar, eight days old, is ritually circumcised. GETTY IMAGES FILE

A group of rabbis is clashing with New York City health officials over the safety of an ancient circumcision ritual.

Three rabbis and three Jewish groups asked a federal court Thursday to block enforcement of a new regulation requiring written parental consent for a rite called "metzitzah b'peh," in Hebrew, which city health experts said can spread infection.

During the ritual, the person performing the circumcision attempts to cleanse the wound by sucking blood from the cut and spitting it aside.

The saliva contact puts the infant at increased risk of getting herpes simplex, a virus that is carried harmlessly by a large majority of adults but that can be deadly in newborns.

The city's Health Department said it has documented 11 cases of the infection since 2000 among children believed to have undergone the ritual.

Ten required hospitalization. Two developed brain damage. Two died. The deaths prompted some doctors to call for the practice to be banned entirely, but the city adopted a compromise approach instead last month: Mohelim performing the circumcision would be required to inform parents that the city believed the procedure was dangerous and have them sign a consent form.

Hong Kong. Woman dies after blood-transfusion beauty treatment

Hong Kong authorities said one woman has died and three others have been hospitalized after a beauty treatment involving blood transfusions.

Hong Kong's Hospital Authority said a 46-year-old woman died Wednesday of septic shock after receiving the treatment at a beauty clinic. The treatment is being tested as a method to fight cancer but in this case it was used for cosmetic purposes.

The case has raised concerns about potentially risky medical treatments at the city's numerous clinics offering procedures that claim to enhance a person's appearance.

Health Secretary Ko Wing-man promised Thursday to review regulations governing the clinics and other private medical facilities. Ko said the review would look at putting private clinics that carry out "high-risk medical treatments or procedures under regulatory control."

Health authorities are investigating whether a registered doctor carried out the treatment and whether the procedure was certified by Hong Kong's Medical Council.

The procedure

- Injection. The procedure, known as DC-CIK, involves the "concentration and processing" of blood by a lab before it is re-injected into the person it was drawn from, the government said.

The four also tested positive for a rare superbug called mycobacterium abscessus, which is extremely resistant to antibiotics.

The three women in hospital are a 64-year-old in critical condition, a 56-year-old in serious condition and a 59-year-old in stable condition.

They were among 44 people who underwent the treatment at the DR Beauty chain of clinics. The treatment costs at least $6,320, according to local news reports.

Police and health officials are investigating how the blood was contaminated and the relationship between the beauty clinic, the treatment lab and the medical practitioner who carried out the procedure. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gruesome. Mom who glued daughter's hands to wall faces sentencing

A Dallas mother who admitted to beating her two-year-old daughter and gluing the child's hands faces anything from probation to a life in prison for her crimes.

Elizabeth Escalona's sentencing hearing continued Thursday, a day after she pleaded for leniency, saying she was no longer the "monster" who committed the attack.

"I will never forgive myself for what I did to my own daughter," said Escalona, who pleaded guilty in July to felony injury to a child.

Police say Escalona lost her temper last year with Jocelyn Cedillo over potty training problems. Escalona beat and kicked Jocelyn before sticking her hands to an apartment wall using an adhesive commonly known as Super Glue. The child was hospitalized for days.

Judge Larry Mitchell has a wide range in choosing Escalona's sentence: anything from probation to life in prison is possible. Prosecutors are asking for a 45-year sentence.

Defence attorney Angie N'Duka asked Escalona what she thought of photos that prosecutors presented earlier this week showing her daughter's injuries. "Only a monster does that," Escalona responded.

Man set on fire, another shot in labour unrest

South Africa. Violence has escalated at platinum mine since 12,000 striking workers were fired last week

Striking miners killed one man by setting him on fire Thursday while another was fatally shot, apparently by police, in rekindled labour unrest in South Africa that saw police firing tear gas and rubber bullets.

The violence near an Anglo American Platinum (Amplats) mine has escalated since the company dismissed 12,000 striking miners on Friday. Dozens have been killed in violence in other strikes in South Africa since August.

One person died Thursday in a hospital after being hit by two rubber bullets likely fired by police trying to disperse striking miners, said Gaddafi Mdoe, a leader of the striking Amplats mine-workers. Another person died from wounds after being set alight by striking workers, North West police spokesman Brig. Thulani Ngubane said.

"The situation remains tense," Ngubane said.

Police Capt. Dennis Adriaio said 40 people have been arrested in violence at the Nkaneng informal settlement near Rustenburg.

The mineworkers have vowed to make the mines ungovernable and to make it impossible for the world's top platinum producer to hire new workers if their wage demands are not met. Evans Ramokga, a strike leader, said last week that the company would hire new workers only "over our dead bodies."

Police apparently were responding to the miners' attempt to stop operations at Amplats' Bathopele mine on Thursday, according to the South African Press Association, which reported that two taxis were set on fire. Amplats' operations in the platinum belt northwest of Johannesburg have been brought to a standstill since most of its workers went on strike last month. Amplats calls the strike illegal.

Wildcat strike

South Africa has been under the grip of labour unrest since August, when platinum miners in Marikana staged a wildcat strike demanding higher pay.

- Police shot and killed 34 striking miners and wounded scores more. That strike ended with a hefty pay raise for the workers and inspired copycat strikes that have since spread to gold and iron-ore mines as well as the trucking industry.

Red-hot diamond planet discovered

Astronomers have discovered a planet twice the size of Earth made largely out of diamond, which is orbiting a star that is visible with the naked eye.

The rocky planet, called "55 Cancri E," orbits a sun-like star 40 light years away in the constellation of Cancer and is moving so fast that a year there lasts a mere 18 hours.

Discovered by a U.S.-Franco research team, its radius is twice that of Earth's but it is much more dense with a mass eight times greater. It is also incredibly hot, with temperatures on its surface reaching 1,648 C.

The study estimates that at least a third of the planet's mass, the equivalent of about three Earth masses, could be diamond.

Diamond planets have been spotted before but this is the first time one has been seen orbiting a sun-like star and studied in such detail.

Afghanistan

Seven British marines arrested in murder inquiry

Seven Royal Marines have been arrested on suspicion of murder in relation to an incident in Afghanistan in 2011, Britain's Ministry of Defence said Thursday.

The defence ministry said that the incident followed "an engagement with an insurgent" and that no civilians were involved.

It added that the seven were arrested Thursday by Royal Military Police, but did not name the marines. While the ministry said the marines were not arrested in Afghanistan, it would not specify where the arrests took place.

It is believed to be the first time U.K. servicemen have been arrested on suspicion of murder over events that took place in Afghanistan. Last year, a British soldier was jailed for stabbing an Afghan boy with a bayonet in 2010. The boy survived the incident.

UN report blasts Iran regime over rights abuses

Resolution pending.

Ahmadinejad regime under fire for stonings, post-election violence and detainments of journalists

The UN's human-rights expert on Iran is condemning the Islamic Republic's reliance on stoning as a form of capital punishment, citing that as just one of a number of "deeply troubling" Iranian rights violations, many of which are "systemic in nature," according to a report circulating among UN delegations.

Ahmed Shaheed, the Geneva-based UN Human Rights Council's special rapporteur on Iran, also called for an "extensive, impartial and independent investigation into the violence in the weeks and months that followed the presidential election of 2009," when pro-democracy protesters surged into the streets to denounce the election of President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad as bogus and rigged.

Shaheed also "reiterates his call for the immediate release of all political prisoners," according to the report.

The document will be the basis for an upcoming General Assembly resolution critical of Iran's human-rights violations.

Shaheed reported that at least 150 journalists have fled Iran since the 2009 elections.

Iran detained more journalists than any other nation last year, according to his report, and to the New-York based rights group Committee to Protect Journalists, which counted 179 writers, editors and photo-journalists jailed in Iran in December 2011.

Montreal cop sidelined after violent exchange

Profanity-laced arrest. Const. 'No. 728' caught in video controversy for the second time this year

A Montreal police constable has been suspended after becoming involved, for a second time, in an aggressive exchange captured on video.

The officer, known as No. 728, in reference to her badge number, has been suspended pending a disciplinary investigation, police chief Marc Parent said on Thursday.

Const. Stefanie Trudeau first made local news earlier this year when video surfaced of her vigorously pepper-spraying a crowd of student protesters who appeared to pose no threat.

This week, new video surfaced of a forceful, profanity-laced arrest during a dispute that started with a man drinking a beer outdoors. She was also recorded making derogatory comments about artists, among other people.

Parent apologized Thursday on behalf of the force. "These comments are completely unacceptable, intolerable and do not reflect our values," he said.

Trudeau was initially relegated to desk duty after video of the Oct. 2 incident was broadcast by Radio-Canada. It shows a man complaining that the arrest of his friend is unnecessary. Within seconds, he is put in a headlock, dragged down a flight of stairs while in a chokehold and handcuffed.

One of the cellphones confiscated by the officer then records her subsequent conversation with a superior, apparently without her knowledge. The recording captures references to "rats" who are "guitar-plucking" artists and who wear red squares, the symbol of Quebec's student-protest movement. There is also talk about choking a suspect, along with a string of unprintable epithets.

August data. Slumping imports reduce Canada's trade deficit

Canada's trade deficit with the world narrowed in August to $1.3 billion from $2.5 billion in July due mostly to a drop in imports, further evidence economists said of the impact of the sluggish global economy on the country.

David Watt, chief economist at HSBC Bank Canada, said the trade gap narrowed for the wrong reason — weakness here in Canada. "Canada's trade deficit narrowed in August, and though rising energy prices suggest that the decline was for the right reasons, that is higher prices for key exports, in fact, the narrowing had more to do with slumping imports," Watt said.

Statistics Canada said Thursday that merchandise imports fell 3.1 per cent to $38.8 billion, with declines in every sector except energy products.

Exports edged down 0.1 per cent in August to $37.5 billion as exports of industrial goods and materials slipped and exports of energy products increased after six consecutive monthly declines.

World has 6 billion cell subscriptions, UN agency says

The world now has nearly as many cellphone subscriptions as inhabitants. The UN telecom agency says there were about six billion subscriptions by the end of 2011, roughly one for 86 of every 100 people. The International Telecommunication Union said China had one billion subscriptions.

Confused by your cell contract? The CRTC wants to hear from you

National standards. Telecom regulator asks for consumer input on wireless retail code

Canadians are being asked for help to develop a national retail code for wireless services like cellphones and tablets.

The CRTC said Thursday that it's asking for help because consumers have said their monthly contracts are confusing and the terms and conditions can vary greatly from one wireless company to another.

"Our goal is to make sure that Canadians have the tools they need to make informed choices in a competitive marketplace," CRTC chairman Jean-Pierre Blais said in a news release.

The federal telecom regulator said consumers are being asked for their opinions on the terms and conditions that should be addressed by such a code and how the rules should be enforced, for example.

The CRTC said a national code will help Canadians better understand their rights as consumers as well as set out

Wendy's original logo, left, and its new logo. The fast food company has revamped its look to try and project a higher-end image.

WENDY'S/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trading up: Wendy's revamps 30-year-old logo

Wendy's pigtails are getting a tweak. For the first time since 1983, the Dublin, Ohio-based fast food company is updating its logo in a move intended to signal its ongoing transformation into a higher-end hamburger chain.

Instead of the boxy, old-fashioned lettering against a red-and-yellow backdrop, the pared down new look features the chain's name in a casual red font against a clean white backdrop. An image of the smiling, cartoon girl in red pigtails floats above — though this girl looks more vivid and not quite as childlike.

CEO Emil Brolick said the current logo had served the company well for the past three decades, but that it was time for an update. Still, Brolick said he was encouraged by consumer feedback in testing dozens of new logo variations over the past several months.

"When we pushed things too far, they very much reeled us back," he said, noting that it showed just how attached people are to the brand.

It's only the fifth logo update since founder Dave Thomas opened the first Wendy's in 1969, and perhaps the most significant. The makeover comes as the chain known for its square burgers and chocolate Frosty shakes struggles to redefine itself in the face of intensifying competition from the likes of Panera Bread Co. and Chipotle Mexican Grill Inc., which are seen as a step up from traditional fast food.

BIG BIRD AD LEAVES US TICKLED PINK

THE LIST
Neil Morton
metronews.ca

It's that time again; the time when the Metro List combines everything from the awesome to the zany to remind you that your world is getting weirder by the week.

1 Eighties re-enactment. Everyone knows that iconic scene from 1989's Say Anything with John Cusack (as Lloyd Dobler) holding up the boom box while playing In Your Eyes for Ione Skye (as Diane Court). Well, Cusack showed up on stage with a boom box for Peter Gabriel at the Hollywood Bowl on the weekend before he performed the song. Eighties movie re-enactments in real life = retro awesome.

2 The shocking split. They were one of those Hollywood couples that gave you hope for longevity in Hollywood couples. But on Monday, after 30 years of marriage, actors Danny DeVito and Rhea Perlman announced they were separating. Love is dead. In Hollywood, that is. Not in the real world.

3 Poor Elmo. Big Bird has become a huge star after Mitt Romney's debate remarks about loving the eight-foot-two canary but being willing to cut PBS's funding. Big Bird made an appearance on Saturday Night Live, and stars in a new Obama-campaign ad, in which Big Bird and Sesame Street are compared to Bernie Madoff and Wall Street. Poor Elmo is waiting for a Romney endorsement now.

4 Ben Affleck. The director-actor went on Twitter Monday to host an online chat about Argo, his new drama/thriller opening Friday. Affleck showed his funny side, tweeting that if he wasn't directing, "I'd be writing Twitter feeds for celebrities." And if Argo "were mistaken for #FARGO, I wouldn't mind. Pretty great movie." But just don't mistake Argo for the Toronto Argos.

5 Jen's rock. Jennifer Aniston's ginormous engagement ring from fiancé Justin Theroux caught on camera was the talk of the Internet, with some people calling it over the top, pretentious and gaudy. Of course, there's always the remote possibility Aniston's pranking us with that huge rock. Or trying out for Real Housewives of Beverly Hills.

6 Sexiest woman alive. It must be an honour for Mila Kunis to receive this title from Esquire magazine in its November issue. And her beau, Ashton Kutcher, must be an equally happy camper. Runners-up for the title include Anne Hathaway, Katie Holmes and my wife, Christi. Now, the part about my wife isn't true, but I just got enough brownie points to last a week for suggesting it.

7 Tim Tebow. Monday night's NFL game between the Jets and Texans became one of good versus evil when Jets backup QB Tim Tebow (a devout Christian) tweeted out earlier in the day "Looking forward to giving God all the glory in tonight's 666th Monday Night Football game. Romans 8:37-39." Evil won out, barely, as the Texans beat Tebow 23-17.

8 Lena Dunham. The Girls creator's autobiographical Not That Kind of Girl: A Young Woman Tells You What She's Learned, is the talk of literary circles. A bidding war for the 26-year-old's book of essays ended with her signing a $3.5-million US deal with Random House. Publishers, if you're interested in Not That Kind of Guy: A Middle-Aged Man Tells You What He's Learned, give me your best offer.

9 Eric Winston. An eloquent post-game rant by the Kansas City Chiefs offensive lineman went viral on YouTube after he tore into hometown fans who cheered an injury to their own QB Matt Cassel, who had been performing poorly. Cassel suffered a concussion and Winston laid into the fans, calling the cheering "100 per cent sickening." Indeed, those fans were so far offside.

10 Jian Ghomeshi's 1982. This goofy, thoughtful memoir by the host of CBC Radio's Q gives the goods on life growing up as a Persian-Canadian boy in the early '80s in Thornhill, Ont. It also covers the influence of new wave (Bowie, The Clash, Talking Heads — yes!) on the budding culture maven. Full of pop culture, full of Canadiana, full of the '80s — like it on Facebook, love it in real life.

11 Twitter quake. The Montreal region was hit by a small quake Wednesday night, and people took to Twitter with some comic gems. "Apparently the Hockey Gods are pissed that the puck won't be dropping at the Bell Centre on Thursday. #earthquake #montreal," tweeted one person. "PVRs have spoiled me. I want to rewind real life by 10 minutes so I can feel that #earthquake again," quipped another.

Canadians get some hero cred in Argo. HANDOUT

Reel Guys

CROUSE AND
MARK BRESLIN

Mission: Theatrical

Argo. The Reel Guys may have uncovered the underlying intent of this movie about a Hollywood-assisted CIA op in Iran

Richard: Mark, despite being based in truth, this spy story has the kind of Hollywood feel that reduces the agents to stereotypes — the world-weary spymaster, the by-the-book boss wielding the “Clipboard of Authority” — and the mission to a series of set pieces involving split-second timing and imminent danger. But this isn’t Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy, with that movie’s pensive take on the intelligence racket. It’s an Affleck-directed thriller that despite its overreliance on well-worn theatrics, works well.

Mark: I’m so glad it isn’t Tinker Tailor Boring Spy. That put me to sleep. This is a fast-paced, often-funny caper movie. Everyone plays their parts well, but it’s not an actor’s movie, it’s the story that matters. And what a story! It seems absurd but it’s too loopy NOT to be true. You might say the film buys into the American belief that Hollywood conquers all, even an international crisis, but it sends it up satirically too. And Canadians are partly the heroes of the film — sort of.

RC: The Canadian connection is played with a sort of understated aplomb, which I suppose suits our national character, but I would have loved to see Ken Taylor played as more of an action hero, like Captain Canuck with diplomatic immunity. I’ll also agree this isn’t an actor’s movie, but you have to love Alan Arkin as Hollywood mogul Lester Siegel.

Arkin is the most flamboyant actor on screen and injects needed energy into stateside scenes.

MB: So true about Arkin; he’s the only one who stands out. And he has the best line in the film: “If I’m going to make a fake movie, I want it to be a fake hit!” I actually spent time wondering if the fake movie might actually be watchable if it were made. The plot didn’t look any worse than John Carter. And here’s a nice paranoid thought: The Iranians in the movie looked dangerous, and the timing of the movie’s release, on the eve of a possible U.S. military intervention into Iran, seems convenient. A CIA co-production, Richard?

RC: Great, now the Reel Guys are going to end up on some kind of CIA watch list. Thanks for exposing the real purpose of this movie.

Synopsis

The action begins in 1979 as Iranian militants invade the U.S. embassy in Tehran, taking 52 of the 58 diplomats hostage. Six manage to escape, making their way to refuge at the home of Canadian Ambassador Ken Taylor (Victor Garber). In the U.S. the CIA hire Tony Mendez (Ben Affleck), an “exfiltration” expert to smuggle the six out of Iran. Creating false identities, he has them pose as a film crew scouting locations for a fake sci-fi flick called Argo.

MB: Well if the CIA did produce it, they did a great job. One of the more original and entertaining films of the year.

Burns gets back to his Irish roots

What he knows best.

Star of Alex Cross talks about his work on a sequel to Brothers McMullan and how Tyler Perry gave him the idea to do it

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Edward Burns hit it big with his debut feature as a writer, director and star, the Brothers McMullan, in 1995. So what's he planning for the 20th anniversary? A sequel, of course. In fact, Burns tells Metro that none other than Tyler Perry — with whom he co-stars in Alex Cross — has encouraged him to get back to the Irish-American story lines that brought him success to begin with.

It's been nearly 20 years since the Brothers McMullan.

I can't believe it's coming up on 20 years. It's crazy. I'm actually working on the sequel for the 20th anniversary. And I did one that comes out in November called the Fitzgerald Family Christmas, which is seven adult siblings. All my friends from big Irish clans who have seen it are like, "Oh man, this one hits a little too close to home."

Why a Christmas movie?

It's funny. Tyler is the inspiration for the movie. He had just watched Brothers McMullan while we were working together and he was like, "Why didn't you ever make a sequel for that film?" So that's where that idea came from. And then he goes, "You know, those first two movies were so successful, and it's all about the Irish-Catholic families. Why haven't you written about that since?" And I really didn't have an explanation. He's like, "Take it from me. Super-serve your niche. I guarantee that all those folks that really connected to those first two movies, if you were to make another Irish-American-themed film, they're probably going to come out to check it out." I was like, "F---, you know what? He's absolutely right." So I sat down and I just started writing.

Aside from your own movies, a lot of your characters have this strong Irish-America identity. It's even mentioned here in Alex Cross.

I had nothing to do with that being in the script. I think at a certain point in some of the films I've acted in, they just throw that in there — or they throw the New York thing in there. I was in this movie called Life or Something Like It with Angelina Jolie, a romantic comedy, and at a certain point they were just like, "All right, what are we going to do with this accent? Let's get him in a Mets hat in one scene and we'll just be done with it." But for me as a filmmaker, it's not even just writing what you know, it's write what you love, you know? Growing up ... everywhere we went there was just nothing but Irish people. It's in your blood.

No one will fight for his students like Mr. Voss.

Comedy

Here Comes The Boom

Director. Frank Coraci

Stars. Kevin James, Salma Hayek

Here Comes the Boom may not bring the boom but it's not quite cinematic doom either. At the broad comedy's core is Kevin James playing earnest as a bored biology teacher engaging in mixed martial arts to raise funds for his financially-strapped school. As outrageous a premise as that is, it still sort of works due to some charming gags and bold brawl scenes. However, constant jabs of formulaic sentiment definitely keep the film from becoming a true champ.

STEVE GOW

Comedy

Seven Psychopaths

Director. Martin McDonagh

Stars. Colin Farrell, Sam Rockwell

It may not be as neatly-structured as his Oscar-nominated breakthrough comedy In Bruges but Martin McDonagh's Seven Psychopaths is certainly as entertaining. A bizarre riff on the art of screen-writing, the dog-napping caper features a struggling scribe (Colin Farrell) who finds inspiration in the shady characters that arise when his best bud nabs a mobster's mutt. While it's certainly a complex narrative that will lose many mainstream moviegoers, snappy dialogue and a fun cast make Psychopaths a big score. STEVE GOW

Horror

Sinister

Director. Scott Derrickson

Stars. Ethan Hawke, Juliet Rylance, James Ransone

A true crime author (Ethan Hawke) is so convinced he's on to a new real-life mystery with the makings of a bestseller he relocates to a small town and a new house. He doesn't tell his wife or kids that the house is actually the scene of the crime he's investigating or about the disturbing home movies he finds in the attic. Sinister is a good old-fashioned spooky movie. It shies away from getting really down and dirty — most of the really grim stuff is left to our imaginations — but it builds tension well and will leave you unsettled. RICHARD CROUSE

Horror

Antiviral

Director. Brandon Cronenberg

Stars. Caleb Landry Jones, Sarah Gadon, Malcolm McDowell

Brandon Cronenberg's maiden feature is, on the surface, akin to the body horror bent of his famous father. But underneath it beats a very different, even more bleak heart. Caleb Landry-Jones plays Syd, a bootlegger of celebrity viruses whose clientele are addicted to injecting themselves with the diseases of the stars. Soon, Syd is involved in corporate skulduggery which leads to vomiting blood all over white walls. DP Karim Hussain's imagery is crisp and Cronenberg goes for icy satire tempered by lowbrow FX gags. CHRIS ALEXANDER

Drama

Arbitrage

Director. Nicholas Jarecki

Stars. Richard Gere, Susan Sarandon

An audacious thriller by first-time filmmaker Nicholas Jarecki, Arbitrage explores a rich investment manager (Richard Gere) and his desperate attempt to hide his lover's homicide while trying to sell his failing company. Jarecki may force a complex examination of power and corruption using a slightly conventional narrative but it's certainly forgivable considering the great performances of Gere and the cast.

STEVE GOW

Quoted

"I made this film thinking it would have a very, very small life within Canada and hopefully wouldn't be a total embarrassment..."

"I kept saying to my siblings when they would be worried about things they had said in the interviews... 'You really don't have to worry, no one will ever see this... no one's going to care.'"

Sarah Polley on her genre-blurring documentary, Stories We Tell, about a personal family secret she feared would upend her personal and professional life.

Songwriter nominations. Elvis Costello, B.B. King and Davies lead the way

Elvis Costello, B.B. King and Ray Davies are among the nominees for the 2013 Songwriters Hall of Fame.

They're joined by a slew of top acts, including Jimmy Buffett, Vince Gill and Rod Temperton, who wrote Michael Jackson's Thriller, Rock With You and Off the Wall.

Songwriters Hall gave The Associated Press a list of nominees in advance of the official announcement, set for Oct. 16. The gala takes place June 13 at the New York Marriott Marquis.

Also nominated are Fleetwood Mac's Stevie Nicks, Lindsey Buckingham and Christine McVie, former Eurythmics bandmates Annie Lennox and Dave Stewart, Jeff Lynne, Steve Winwood, Aerosmith's Steven Tyler and Joe Perry, Bobby Womack and Foreigner's Lou Gramm and Mick Jones, who said in an interview that he's excited to be highlighted as a songwriter.

"It means a lot that those songs have been recognized, and maybe, hopefully a little part of history," Jones said of the band's hits, which in-

Bond with the music classics

Spy soundtrack. With Adele's Skyfall pleasing the ears of fans, we look at the other songs that made the secret agent saga famous and the film's impressive song of the same name by British songstress Adele, Metro looks at a long line of iconic tunes that helped make Bond the sophisticated, escapist's franchise that it is today.

With the release of the latest Bond movie Skyfall

Goldfinger by Shirley Bassey from Goldfinger

Classic film, classic voice: Bassey recorded three Bond themes, the only performer to do more than one.

Bond Theme/Kingston Calypso/Three Blind Mice by Monty Norman from Dr. No

The first, and, if not the best, it deserves credit for setting the tone for future Bonds, although the end of the YouTube clip for the song is just odd. Plus: funky title design!

Live and Let Die by Paul McCartney & Wings from Live and Let Die

Love it when the guitar breaks out. Or are we thinking of the Guns N' Roses cover?

Nobody Does it Better by Carly Simon from The Spy Who Loved Me

The title says it all.

A View to a Kill (Dance Into the Fire) by Duran Duran from A View to a Kill

For a certain generation, Roger Moore is James Bond, and this was his definitive '80s theme.

OHMS Title Theme by John Barry Orchestra from On Her Majesty's Secret Service

Sampled by DJs even today, this classical hit is more fondly remembered than George whathisname.

Diamonds are Forever by Shirley Bassey from Diamonds are Forever

Another Bassey smash, this for the last official film to star Sean Connery.

From Russia with Love (Instrumental) by John Barry from From Russia with Love

Another instrumental, and still glorious 50 years later.

The World is Not Enough by Garbage from The World is Not Enough

Kudos to the producers for taking a risk here, hiring an alt rock band with electronic, melancholy touches, to shake things up. It's Bond remixed.

You Only Live Twice by Nancy Sinatra from You Only Live Twice

A year after her hit These Boots Are Made for Walkin', Frank's daughter scored another hit.

Moonraker by Shirley Bassey from Moonraker

Bassey is still alive and performing Bond songs. Bring her back!

Thunderball by Tom Jones from Thunderball

Who better to sing a Bond song than a man who scores just as many ladies?

The Man with the Golden Gun by Lulu from The Man with the Golden Gun

Lovely. But we prefer Lulu's To Sir, with Love

GoldenEye by Tina Turner from GoldenEye

She's an icon. This song, not so much.

Licence to Kill by Gladys Knight from Licence to Kill

The track sounds very 1989, but we're nostalgic for it. Unlike Sheena Easton's.

For Your Eyes Only by Sheena Easton from For Your Eyes Only

The '80s Brit sings this one right into the camera, and gives it her all. We remember it being played in dentists' offices everywhere.

All Time High by Rita Coolidge from Octopussy

The tune is passable but we dock points because she never says the word Octopussy.

The Living Daylights by A-Ha from The Living Daylights

Side note: A-Ha's video for Take on Me was better than this entire film.

Another Way to Die by Jack White & Alicia Keys from Quantum of Solace

Stuttering, rockabilly, and featuring a weird pair, this tune is at least bolder than the movie, one of the worst Bonds ever.

Tomorrow Never Dies by Sheryl Crow from Tomorrow Never Dies

There's no one less Bond than the woman behind elevator music like All I Wanna Do.

Die Another Day by Madonna from Die Another Day

Madonna + vocoder = a dated techno fail. This just misses last place because at least we remember it.

You Know My Name by Chris Cornell from Casino Royale

A revitalizing movie. With a theme song sung by a grunge-era relic.

Seeking music's unexperienced

New album. Dan Snaith, of Caribou fame, is releasing a electronica album with the hope of generating fresh inspiration

When Caribou's Dan Snaith first started frequenting dance clubs as a teenager in Toronto, he already couldn't resist the lure of the DJ booth.

Any time a piece of visionary vinyl started spinning, he remembers being "that guy" peering over the DJ's shoulder, trying to catch a glimpse of the label.

"The most exciting moments in DJ sets for me, in the past, have all been: 'Oh my God, I can't believe this record exists. It's so good, what is it?'" said the London-based musician in a recent telephone interview.

In recent years — just as Snaith found himself exhausted by the rituals and clichés of traditional live pop music — he found himself returning to clubs, energized and inspired by the DJs whirling through London and those moments of dance floor discovery that are hard to come by anywhere else.

That's what inspired his latest disc, Jiaolong, which the electronic composer — who previously recorded as Manitoba — will release Tuesday under the moniker Daphni.

As opposed to his typically meticulous work with Caribou, Snaith breathed life into these nine tracks quickly, out of necessity — most of the compositions here had to be finished immediately as he worked to conjure new music for his set.

And given that he worked with an analog modular synthesizer — a notoriously fussy machine with which it can be difficult or even impossible to reproduce sounds created moments before — he didn't have the option of fiddling endlessly with his spontaneously crafted tunes.

"The whole point of this music is for it to sound like something unexpected and genuinely live and improvised is happening, so when I was DJing it in a club, people would get that feeling that like: 'What on earth is going to happen next? We don't know where this music's going,'" he said.

Yet fans who followed Caribou's progression from the bedroom psychedelia of 2007's Polaris Prize-winning Andorra to 2010's glittering dance-pop collection Swim will actually find Jiaolong a logical next step from a cerebral artist who usually favours more dramatic creative left turns.

On Jiaolong, Snaith again and again finds a groove then threads in layers of surprising colours.

But while venturing into somewhat unfamiliar territory, Snaith was thankful for the ability to test his latest tunes quickly in front of discerning crowds.

"My most common experience is making a track that I'm really excited about and coming back the next day and listening to it and thinking that it's terrible. That has always happened to me — always," said Snaith, who has a PhD in mathematics from Imperial College London.

Paul Shaffer to host Canada's Walk of Fame awards show

Paul Shaffer is no stranger to the spotlight — the 62-year-old musician and actor has spent the better part of the last 37 years on our televisions, first with Saturday Night Live and since 1982, as David Letterman's musical director and side-kick.

But in a rare turn Sunday, Shaffer will be the sole person in that spotlight as host of the 2012 Canada's Walk of Fame Awards Show.

"I'm thrilled about it," he says, sitting backstage at the Ed Mirvish Theatre, prior to the show's taping last month. He was asked through friend Randy Bachman, if he'd come up to Toronto to induct the singer-guitarist. When Global TV found out, they asked if Shaffer would host the whole shebang.

Shaffer himself was inducted back in 2006. He calls the Walk, located at King and Simcoe Streets in Toronto, an important validation. "You're being honoured by your countrymen," he says. "When I left Canada in the early 70s, you kind of had to [go to the States] in pop music. There was the Guess Who, Gordon Lightfoot and that was it."

Raised in Thunder Bay, Shaffer moved to Hogtown to attend the University of Toronto, earning a degree in sociology. He "jobbed" around for five years, before landing in a local production of Godspell. After performing in the Saturday Night Live band for five years, he worked as a session musician until meeting Letterman.

Shaffer is regularly tapped to act as musical director for productions like the Rock 'n'

R&B love

Shaffer makes no secret of his love of R&B — the house band he leads at the Ed Sullivan theatre is modeled after an instrumental R&B group. He even keeps a Hammond B-3 organ that once belonged to James Brown in his New York loft. "It's so funky it almost plays itself," he jokes. Shaffer had the opportunity to meet the Godfather of Soul on several occasions whenever Brown dropped by to perform on Letterman. "Every time was an education for me," he admits. "He invented so much of the stuff that we're still dancing to today. Those experiences were some of my favourites."

Lohan phones dad to tell him her mom is on coke

More details are coming to light about Lindsay Lohan's early-morning spat with mom Dina Lohan now that audio from a call Lindsay placed to dad Michael Lohan has been obtained by TMZ. "Dad, she's on cocaine," Lohan yells on the call. "She's, like, touching her neck and s—. She's saying disgusting things to me ... I'm dead to her now." Pattinson seen with mystery girl on night out

Despite reports of a reconciliation between Robert Pattinson and Kristen Stewart, the British Twilight star was recently enjoying the company of another woman, according to the Daily Mail. Pattinson and some pals hit up a New York City nightclub earlier this week, though the actor spent most of the night getting cosy with a mystery blonde. "He had his arm around (the girl) at one point, and they chatted for most of the night," a source says. "They looked like they were having a great time, and the girl was making him laugh a lot."

Grey's star McKidd reflects on how far he has come

"I can't believe I had to come all the way to New York to get a glass of Macallan," proclaimed actor Kevin McKidd's extremely Scottish father Neil on Wednesday night. He was sipping the scotch whisky at a party celebrating a new creative campaign between his son, photographer Annie Leibovitz and Macallan.

It was a good crack by the elder McKidd. He and his wife, Kathleen, raised Kevin in Elgin, which is just a few miles away from the Macallan distillery, where the actor worked as a teenager. "I was literally the guy who swept up all the crap and did all the crap jobs," recounted Kevin, who is probably most famous for portraying Dr. Owen Hunt (a.k.a. McRugged) on Grey's Anatomy. "I was the hired hand holding all the rubbish."

And now he's being photographed by Leibovitz for the Macallan Masters of Photography campaign, which is comprised of 1,000 limited edition bottles featuring various portraits of McKidd. "It's extremely surreal," he said.

Angry Bieber takes to Twitter as 'personal' footage, items are stolen

Justin Bieber had his computer and camera stolen from backstage during a tour stop in Washington state this week, he announced on Twitter. "Yesterday during the show me and my tour manager Josh had some stuff stolen. Really sucks. People should respect other's property," he posted. "I had a lot of personal footage on that computer and camera and that is what bothers me the most." It's unclear just how "personal" that footage is, but so far there have been no reports of anyone looking to sell anything compromising from Bieber's collection.

Wine your way right into autumn

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

As my summer worshipping friends shed a tear for the recent passing of the seasonal torch, I'm revelling in fall.

I mean, what's not to love about autumn? There's the colours, me rocking my jacket collection on cool, crisp afternoons, Halloween and, of course, a chance to match rustic wines with the harvested bounty — thanks to my local food growers.

While I hate liquid pigeonholing, once in a while you have to look deep into your glass and admit that some wines just seem to taste better at certain times of the year.

A textbook example are the reds from Italy's Chianti region in Tuscany.

The sangiovese grape calls the area home and its combination of bright violet aromatics and ripe plum/cherry fruit flavours has an earthy charm that speaks to fall's essence.

The Ruffino Chianti DOCG ($14.95 - $17.99) is a straightforward version that's been a mainstay of Italian restos since the 1970s. The current 2011 edition is soft and supple with a plump, dark berry personality that makes a perfect partner to light stews, roasted poultry, and tomato-based pasta sauces. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Four different ways to fall for food

Fall food in Canada is distinct in its ability to comfort and inspire. Across the country, there are trends that are cosy, warming and just what old man winter ordered. The theme this year seems to be low brow, peasant, artisanal and South American/Mexican. Real, honest, earthy and tasty takes the cupcake.

THERESA ALBERT, DHN, RNCP (MYFRIENDINFOOD.COM)

Anything Taco

Tacos are huge! Fish tacos, bison tacos, Mexican seasonings or more fusion esoteric flavours abound. If it is wrapped in a corn or wheat tortilla, it is cool. If it has slaw or pickles, it is over the moon, super cool. The newest versions have soft corn tacos rather than the envelope ones that your mom made, which leaked and cracked and drizzled meat juice all down your arm. Nowadays, you really ought to eat this art with a fork.

Grilled Cheese

Any way you slice it, the classic standby has become a shining example of gourmet. Mixing cheeses with condiments, meats with pickles, thick breads and thin is very au courant. And if you can get your grilled cheese from a food truck, well, aren't you the cat's meow?

Ethnic Condiments

The more authentic the condiment, the better! You've never had such fun mixing Indian Raita with spicy Mexican food or garlicky chimichurri with sheep's milk brie on baguette. Chutneys of all shapes and flavours as well as harissa and other flavourful pastes make a meal sing.

Cupcakes

These wee treaties are not going away. A cake is too much of a commitment but a cupcake can cheer you up in a few bites and not leave eight more pieces in the kitchen to call your name. Apples, baked, caramelized or stewed are also making a comeback and if you find a cupcake containing those flavours, buy it!

Grilled Cheese Upgrade. Put your knowledge of trends to good use

This recipe combines two of the fall food trends — grilled cheese and chutney, which is an ethnic condiment.

1. Preheat a cast iron skillet to medium-high and butter one side of each piece of bread.
2. Place two slices face down into skillet, top with cheese and a dollop of chutney, cover with second slice, butter side out.
3. Flip once and allow cheese to melt.

Ingredients

- 4 slices 100% Rye bread
- 3-5 oz grated aged cheddar cheese
- 2 tbsp mango chutney
- Butter

Coven Ring Exhibit (78)

Through the works that comprise Coven Ring, Marigold Santos explores notions of transformation, fragmentation and multiplicity, which she believes is an inherent part of the self, rooted in an underlying visceral exploration of home and identity. In this exhibition, hosted at The Khyber through Oct. 26, Santos creates a 'personal mythological landscape,' which draws upon elements from her Filipino heritage that she combines with Western folklore. She applies these to images from physically demanding sports such as boxing. Visit marigoldsantos.com

Playing Friday: Erin Costello

Halifax-based Erin Costello is bringing her latest, We Can Get Over, front and centre at the Company House. Said to overthrow genre on this latest album, she is inspired by her love of old soul, 1960s vocal groups and classic arranging. An accomplished musician and arranger who has toured North America, Costello has performed with Symphony Nova Scotia and The Blue Engine String Quartet. Come celebrate her latest offering Friday at 8 p.m. for only $20.

On Friday: Two Hours Traffic

After a decade of accomplishments that include a victory at the East Coast Music Awards, Two Hours Traffic have reinvented themselves with a new producer, an altered lineup and an overhauled sound — and they're bringing it all to Halifax's Olympic Gardens Friday at 9 p.m. With a full-length release slated for next year, the band has decided to release a four-song EP quickly. Come and hear the first song from the latest Siren Spell.

Heads up: Halifax Pop Explosion

OK, OK. It doesn't officially kick off until Tuesday, but this year being the 20th anniversary of Halifax Pop Explosion, I felt alerting fellow music fans to a great way to take on next week was in order. Hitting their china anniversary, this year's lineup is well suited for a grand celebration. Big draws include Of Montreal, Black Lips, Wintersleep, Deer Tick ... but I digress. Mark your calendars, get your tickets and come celebrate 20 years of fantastic music! Visit halifaxpopexplosion.com

On display: Canadian Pioneers

The Art Gallery of Nova Scotia will be home to a new exhibition that showcases the depth and breadth of one of the finest private collections in Canada. Running Friday through Jan. 6, Canadian Pioneers will feature over 80 works of Canada's greatest artists, including Emily Carr, Clarence A. Gagnon, David Milne, Tom Thomson, Cornelius Krieghoff, J.W. Morrice and The Group of Seven. This is the first time that these works have been shown together in Canada.

On now: Flamenco fest

Now in its seventh year, this festival is an annual international music, dance and cultural event. The fest includes workshops, dance classes and music, all centered around the powerful, centuries-old Gypsy tradition of flamenco. The event is a week-long celebration packed with concerts and performances by famous guest artists from Spain, popular local flamenco fusion bands, dance performances and a free library concert series. Huskies looking to jump-start offence

Season opener. Saint Mary's coach Trevor Stienburg gets goal-hungry ahead of clash with Dalhousie

matthew.wuest@metronews.ca

A quick glance at the goal totals of the Saint Mary's Huskies' top returning scorers paints a grim picture for their offence.

Three returnees had eight goals, another had seven, and six more had five — and Trevor Stienburg's message to those 10 players is clear.

"Guys who scored eight goals last year? Not good enough. Guys who scored five goals? Not good enough," the Huskies men's hockey coach said.

"We need everybody to step up their offence. There are not many teams who are successful when their leading scorer only has eight goals."

The Huskies, who finished second in Atlantic University Sport last season before being eliminated in the semifinals, open the 2012-13 campaign on Friday at 7 p.m. at the Forum against the Dalhousie Tigers.

Although Stienburg had a quiet recruiting year, former Halifax Mooseheads star and New York Rangers prospect Ryan Hillier is a newcomer who could jump-start the attack.

With veteran standouts Colby Pridham and Cam Ferguson moving on, Cory Tanaka, Lucas Bloodoff and Chris MacKinnon are the top-scoring returnees. Matt Tipoff, Stephen Johnston and Brad Smith are among the other forwards who will be called upon for more production.

"It's going to have to come from within," Stienburg said. "We didn't go get a 42-goal guy from the OHL followed by a 35-goal guy. We didn't. We're going to need our returning players to put pucks in the net."

Returnees Justin Wallingford, Michael D'Orazio and Jamie Doornbosch — who played one game in the NHL in 2010-11 — lead the Huskies defence corps, while first-team all-star and all-rookie selection Anthony Peters will be asked to handle a "monster role" in goal, Stienburg said.

With goals likely hard to come by, Peters' play could be

Mooseheads set to battle for first place in Quebec

The Halifax Mooseheads are making their first foray into Quebec this season.

The Mooseheads, who are riding a five-game winning streak, visit the Drummondville Voltigeurs on Friday at 8:30 p.m. and the Shawinigan Cataractes on Saturday at 5 p.m.

With the race for top spot in the QMJHL tightening, the games will have a big impact on the standings. The Mooseheads and Quebec Remparts are tied for first with matching 7-1 records, while the Blainville-Boisbriand Armada and Rimouski Oceanic are a point back with 6-1-1 records.

"We're all in a tight race," said Mooseheads winger Luca Ciampini. "We're looking at it game-by-game to get to the end goal and we're not thinking about what other teams are doing, we're just thinking about ourselves and preparing ourselves."

The Mooseheads offence has been on fire during the winning streak, finding the net 29 times, while their power play has converted on seven of its past 19 opportunities.

Sidney sees solution ahead

NHL. Penguins superstar believes lockout won't erase entire season

Sidney Crosby can't even get through a conversation with his grandmother without the topic being raised.

A phone call back to Nova Scotia over Thanksgiving weekend inevitably veered towards the status of the NHL's collective bargaining talks and included the $3-billion question being asked throughout the hockey world: When will the season start?

"It's all anybody wants to talk about," Crosby said Thursday.

That includes the Penguins captain, who fielded questions from reporters at a practice facility in the suburbs of Pittsburgh. It was a morning he should have been preparing for the season opener — Friday's game against the Islanders was cancelled by the lockout — but instead found himself going through drills with a handful of teammates.

They are the optimistic few who are staying in town with hopes that a settlement will soon be reached and training camp can open. At this point, Crosby isn't even willing to

Wishful thinking

The progress Crosby is hoping for didn't happen this week during two days of meetings between the league and NHLPA in New York.

- The sides broke off talks Thursday afternoon and reported no progress in their ongoing stalemate.

entertain the notion that the work stoppage could threaten the entire season.

"I can't see it getting to that point, I really can't," he told The Canadian Press. "If anything, my thoughts are more just about whether the NHL has a date in mind (for the season to start) and just when they're actually going to start negotiating."

Much of Crosby's optimism is rooted in the growth he's seen since entering in the NHL. He was skating in the QMJHL during the 2004-05 lockout and helped propel the sport to new heights when the "new" NHL returned the following season.

"There's a lot of momentum," said Crosby. "I just really hope that the (owners) aren't taking that for granted."

Back on the sidelines

Another season cut short

The timing of the current lockout is particularly tough for Crosby, who was limited to just 63 regular-season games the last two seasons because of concussion symptoms.

He's now feeling better than ever — "I've come a long way" — but believes all of the time he spent on the sidelines recently has helped him stay patient during negotiations.

Crosby certainly looked as though he hadn't missed a beat while being put through skating and stickhandling drills by a skills instructor on Thursday.

Crosby said he would consider playing overseas eventually, but likely only if the entire NHL season is cancelled.

"I don't have a date in mind," said Crosby.

Giants walk road to mammoth series comeback

Not just any comeback would get San Francisco back to playing for a pennant. It would take one of Giant proportions.

And Buster Posey believed it could happen. Even after the Giants left the West Coast down two games, the National League batting champion insisted his team could pull it off, despite the long odds.

With one swing, he got everyone else believing it, too.

Posey hit the third grand slam in Giants postseason history on Thursday, and San Francisco pulled off an unprecedented revival, moving into the championship series with a 6-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

"You don't want to be in a lose-and-you're-out scenario," reliever Jeremy Affeldt said, wearing a brace on his left wrist so he didn't hurt it in the champagne-flavoured clubhouse celebration. "We've been in that situation for three days. We're probably going to sleep well tonight."

NBL. Athletic big man Hugee returning to Halifax

The Halifax Rainmen have brought back another key player from last year's run to the National Basketball League of Canada final.

The Rainmen signed six-foot-seven forward/centre Darnell Hugee on Thursday, bringing their roster count to four along with guards Joey Haywood, Brandon Robinson and Eddie Smith.

"His athleticism and defensive intensity was a huge part of our success down the stretch last season," said Rain-men owner Andre Levingston.

Hugee was a late-season signing who averaged 11.1 points and 5.3 rebounds in eight playoff contests. He was also assessed a team-leading 35 personal fouls.

Huskies on hunt for 3rd-straight win

The Saint Mary's Huskies football team heads to Sackville, N.B., on Saturday looking to improve to .500.

The Huskies, who have won back-to-back games following a 0-3 start and are tied for second in Atlantic University Sport, visit the Mount Allison Mounties (1-4) at 2 p.m.

The first-place Acadia Axemen (4-1) face the St. Francis Xavier X-Men (2-3) in the other AUS matchup.

Walk-off homer Werth the wait

The Washington Nationals signed Jayson Werth to show them how to win. His game-ending homer Thursday night extended their surprising season.

Werth led off the bottom of the ninth inning by driving Lance Lynn's 13th pitch into the left-field stands to give the Nationals a 2-1 victory over the defending World Series champion St. Louis Cardinals and force a Game 5 in their NL division series.

As he circled the bases, Werth raised his right index finger in a "No. 1" gesture, while the announced crowd of 44,392 roared. The other Nationals raced out of the dugout to greet Werth, who tossed his red batting helmet high in the air before jumping on home plate and being enveloped by a bouncing col-out all winter for and what you get to spring training early for," Werth said. "We have a chance tomorrow to take that next step. I know my teammates will be ready and the city will, too."

The homer was Werth's first with the Nationals but 14th of his career in the post-season. He won the 2008 World Series and moved to Washington as a free agent before last season on a $126-million US contract.

World Cup spot for Canada requires Hart

Easygoing coach.
Men's national soccer skipper takes fresh approach to motivating his charges ahead of CONCACAF qualifier

Stephen Hart is as laid back as they come.

The Trinidadian-born head coach of Canada's men's national soccer team is soft-spoken, thoughtful and measured in dealing with his players and media.

So, ahead of what he's quick to call "the biggest" game of his coaching career, Hart, 52, eschewed a rousing speech in favour of a sports video. On golf.

"Last night, he showed us a non-soccer video of Tiger Woods making a shot at the Masters, chipping the ball in," captain Kevin McKenna said Thursday after the final training session ahead of Canada's key World Cup qualifying match against Cuba at BMO Field on Friday night.

Woods' miraculous shot at the 16th hole en route to winning the 2005 Masters hardly seems the best way to motivate 21 professional soccer players. Then again, neither does cracking jokes in team meetings.

With two games remaining

Quoted

"He comes with a different approach and I think everyone responds to it"

Canadian defender Kevin McKenna on men's national coach Stephen Hart and his unique motivational skills in this semifinal stage of qualifying for Brazil 2014, Canada has a chance to reach the final leg for the first time since 1998. The top-two sides in three four-team groups advance to that so-called Hexagonal phase.

Panama (3-1-0) leads the group with nine points. Honduras and Canada (both 2-1-1) are tied with seven points, but Honduras has the edge with a plus-2 goal differential to zero for Canada. Cuba (0-4-0) is in last place.

While the tendency might be to look beyond the winless Cubans to a decisive match next Tuesday in Honduras, Hart's focus is Friday.

"The players are all well aware that the Cuba game is the most important thing," Hart told reporters.

If Canada not only wins on Friday but runs up the score to improve their goal differential, then a tie, or even a narrow loss, in Honduras might be enough to advance to the final round, which will take place in 2013. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Horoscopes

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

What you decide to focus on today and over the weekend depends on trust. Specifically, do you trust partners and colleagues enough to take their advice seriously? That's something only you can decide.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

The planets indicate that the more you push yourself now, the more you will achieve. The approaching new moon will boost your vitality and make it easier to get things done — both at home and at work.

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You won't lack for confidence over the next 24 hours. Even if you are one of those rare Geminis who is cautious by nature, you will take risks left, right and centre. Don't aim for perfection, aim to have fun.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

You want the chance to prove yourself to the world and you will get it over the next few days. But don't push yourself so hard that you risk some sort of injury. Everyone has limits — even a Cancerian.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

It seems you have something on your mind, something you feel needs to be said, and if others don't like it that's just too bad. You can be quite harsh when the mood takes you — and it's taking you now.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

You need to adopt a more adventurous approach, especially where your personal life is concerned. Most of all, you need to get over your fear of rejection. The person you most need to love is yourself.

♏ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

There is a new moon in your birth sign on Monday. Between now and then, you should give some thought to what kind of new start you want to make. Don't limit your horizons: Think big and act big too.

♏ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

It's good to be tolerant, to accept that different people see things in different ways, but that does not mean you have to change your own ways. You are who you are for a reason — a good reason, too.

♐ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

You are in one of those moods where you have very little patience with people who drag their feet or get in your way. Be warned though that if you are too abrasive, you could make a serious enemy — or several.

♑ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You may be worried that you won't make it to the top of whatever level it is you aspire to, but you will. Your greatest trait is not your ambition, but your staying power. You refuse to give up.

♒ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You've had your fill of certain people and intend to get away from them as soon as possible. Good for you. A change of scene will do you a world of good today. Stretch it to several days if you can.

♓ Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

The approaching new moon will help you sort out your money situation but you've got to accept it will take time. If you act in haste today, you may regret it come Monday when other options reveal themselves. SALLY BROMPTON
